CAN'T EFFECT THIS SECTION.

In this issue we publish a very able interview from Secretary Houston of the agricultural department setting out in a very lucid and logical manner that the warring nations are very likely to grow more food this year than usual and for that reason the demands on this country for food may be much less than some persons expect.

His deductions may be true, but even in that event the farmers of this county need fear nothing. Our condition here is briefly this:

For the past few years our farmers have given unusual attention to cattle raising and better methods of farming in general. The results have been so satisfactory that they are encouraged now as never before in all lines of farming and cattle raising, and a greater effort will be made this year than ever before.

As a people we are buyers rather than sellers in most products of the farm with the single exception of cattle. Since our farmers are raising more cattle than ever before they are sure to win even if the price of live stock should shrink some, which few people think will prove to be the case.

Again, the people of this section buy much that they could raise for less than they pay for it. Every indication points to a determination on the part of our people to grow more of their living this year than ever before.
That means they will spend less.
Their cattle will find ready sale and the final wind up will be that next fall will find our people in a more prosperous condition than ever before.

It is well worth while to read the article by Secretary Houston as you may gather some useful points from it.

THROUGH THE DARDANELLES.

Indications now are so strong that the Turkish forts guarding the Dardanelles—the entrance to Constantinople —will fall under the fire of the war ships of the French and English that one had as well call it done.

Not in the memory of many persons now living have war vessels passed through the Dardanelles and past Constantinople in time of war, if at all.
England has long supported the idea that the Dardanelles, the approach to Constantinople, the Turkish capital, and the entrance to the Black Sea, be closed to war vessels at all times.

That prevented Russia from bringing her Black Sea fleet out to fight Japan during the Russian-Japanese war.

It now seems that the allied powers wish the Dardanelles opened in order to get to the immense store of Russian wheat that has no other outlet to the markets of the world. The wheat is more desired than the real fall of Constantinople, unless, as England has openly declared she really favors Russia having an open sea to warm water.
In that event it would seem probable that England will favor the expulsion of the Turk from Europe and that Russia shall annex all the Turkish territory in Europe, including Constantinople.

The course may be expedient now for England and the allies, but the history of Russian aggression is one that should make England act cautiously in placing Russia in so commanding a position as to hold and control Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

Nothing evil can come to this country from such a course, so far as the masses of the people are concerned. It

A CONFESSION

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Hines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good."

Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a fired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continuously.

Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight."

If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer.

For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the womanly constitution, and helps build the weakened organs back to health and strength.

Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

will have a distinct tendency to reduce the price of wheat and flour and that it will prove a means of reducing the cost of living to a more nearly reasonable basis.

No one is much interested in the Turk and few care what happens to him for he has been a clog on civilization for many generations.

The Harriman News was thrown into the hands of a receiver Monday of last week through the medium of a general creditors' bill. While the designated obligations aggregated less than $2,000 there are other obligations that are supposed to be of sufficient size to more than cover the value of the plant and all bills receivable.

While the smash came a little sooner than the writer expected, it did not prove a surprise to us further than as to the time. We have been predicting for a year or longer that the News would never see January 1, 1916, unless some person who was ignorant of the newspaper business should be induced to put money into it. That did not happen.

Whether or not the News will resume publication remains to be seen, but in the estimation of the writer, it will be several moons yet before Harriman can or will support two newspapers. The reason for our belief would very likely prove of little interest to our readers and for that reason we content ourselves with this general statement: When you get mad at your paper and wish to run it out of business give your dollars one long, lingering kiss before you put them into an opposition paper for you are very likely to never see those same dollars again. If you simply can't stand conditions, buy out the paper and put some one at the helm that is more to your liking. The chances are you will be sorry even then, but that is better than starting an opposition paper.

Representative E. L. Wirt, of Putnam county, is a patriot of the first water and is deserving of a leather medal. Just before the recess of the legislature he got off a long tirade against the Nashville Banner under the guise of "personal privilege." Mr.
Wirt published that "bull" in his paper last week. That will enable a few people to know what he said whereas no one knew of it before.

Next week there may appear a long editorial in Mr. Wirt's paper commending Representative Wirt for his "manly defense of his party." If it should fail to appear he will have missed another golden opportunity for "vindication and commendation of a faithful public servant."

It is hardly probable that the news reports that French and English fleets had reduced the Dardanelles forts caused much regret to any one in this country for it is a fact that the "unspeakable Turk" has few friends in the U. S.
When it developed that the reduction of the Dardanelles forts caused a drop in wheat and flour, the interest of the Turk was completely lost sight of and general rejoicing followed with the mental voicing: "reduce some more."

Let critics of former Governor Ben W. Hooper say what they will about him as a newspaper reporter, it is a certain fact that he never has to explain anything he says, either by telegram or otherwise, in order that his meaning may be understood.
In that respect he is very much like

A Dollar That Can't Be Spent MILLSTONE.

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

Author of "Do Something! Be Something!"

EVERY dollar spent in advertising is not only a seed dollar which produces a profit for the merchant, but is actually retained by him even after he has paid it to the publisher.

Advertising creates a good will equal to the cost of the publicity.

Advertising really costs nothing. While it uses funds it does not use them up. It helps the founder of a business to grow rich and then keeps his business alive after his death.

It eliminates the personal equation. It perpetuates confidence in the store and makes it possible for a merchant to withdraw from business without having the profits of the business withdrawn from him. It changes a name to an institution—an institution which will survive its builder.

It is really an insurance policy which costs nothing—pays a premium each year instead of calling for one and renders it possible to change the entire personnel of a business without disturbing its prosperity.

Advertising renders the business stronger than the man—independent of his presence. It permanentizes systems of merchandising, the track of which is left for others to follow.

A business which is not advertised must rely upon the personality of its proprietor, and personality in business is a decreasing factor.
The public does not want to know the man who owns the store—it isn't interested in him but in his goods. When an unadvertised business is sold it is only worth as much as its stock of goods and its fixtures. There is no good will to be paid for—it does not exist—it has not been created. The name over the door means nothing except to the limited stream of people from the immediate neighborhood, any of whom could tell you more about some store ten miles away which has regularly delivered its shop news to their homes.

It is as shortsighted for a man to build a business which dies with his death or ceases with his inaction, as it is unfair for him not to provide for the continuance of its income to his family.

If you have never used a Vulcan plow you have something to learn about plows. The Vulcan other plows clog. If you will try one you will be convinced there is no plow better and few its equal

If you need anything in farm tools, let me show you and quote prices. That will cost you nothing and is very likely to save you money.

R. R. DUNBAR.

a certain other gentleman who has prominent teeth.

Easter comes April fourth this year, which is rather early. Wonder if the usually accepted idea of "early Easter, early spring" will prevail this time.
In the face of the severe winter we have had many will hope so.

Monday, March 1, shone bright and clear, but if the temperature is taken into consideration and people call it a March lamb, we should be glad it did not prove a March lion.

bowels open and risk being sick and ailing? You don't have to. Take one small Dr. King's New Life Pill at night, in the morning you will have a full, free bowel movement and feel much better. Helps your appetite and
